

I am opposed to the petition by BellSouth to limit FCC regulation and oversight of broadband. It would severely limit what little competition exists for access to the internet and other services and would be detrimental to independent ISPs ability to survive, and to consumers who would be deprived of choice and subjected to unlimited price hikes.